2.2 Family nucleus

You and all the proposed occupiers listed in the application must form an eligible family nucleus, defined as any one of the following:

- (a) You and your spouse, and children (if any). An occupier who is married must also include his or her spouse;
- (b) You (single) and both your parents, and siblings (if any);

- (b) If you inform the developer or if the developer is aware that you and your fiancé or fiancée have broken off the relationship and will not be able to submit your marriage certificate, or if the marriage is later annulled, you will not be eligible to buy the EC unit. The Sale and Purchase Agreement, if it has already been entered into, will be terminated. Upon termination of the Sale and Purchase Agreement, the developer will be entitled to impose a forfeiture amount equivalent to 5% of the purchase price of the EC unit in accordance with the Sale and Purchase Agreement. If you have been given a CPF Housing Grant:

- (i) You will have to return the CPF Housing Grant together with interest accrued. If you are unable to return the full amount, the outstanding amount (inclusive of interest) will be treated as a debt owed by you and your fiancé or fiancée to the Government ("the debt"). You and your fiancé or fiancée will not be eligible to rent a flat from HDB, buy or take over the ownership of another HDB flat or EC unit until the debt is settled in full.
 - (ii) HDB also reserves the right to recover the CPF Housing Grant with interest if the EC purchase is terminated at any time from the date of disbursement of the grant till the date you take possession of the EC unit. 2.10 Minimum Occupation Period (MOP) for existing flat

The MOP for EC unit is computed from the date of Temporary Occupation Permit (TOP) of the EC development. The MOP for HDB or DBSS flats is computed from the date of collection of keys of the HDB flat or DBSS flat.

The MOP for:

- Direct-purchase HDB flats, DBSS flats and resale HDB flats is five years.
- Prime Location Public Housing flats is ten years
- HDB flat acquired by way of transfer at market value is five years.

Flat owners (and their spouses) must have physically occupied the flat for a period of at least five years or ten years for Prime Location Public Housing flats (excluding the renting out of whole flat and any period of non-occupation) at the time of the application for an EC unit.  - (b) Where the developer launches the EC development by way of balloting, the application must be submitted before the closing date as set by the developer. The developer will conduct a ballot to shortlist all buyers. Buyers will be notified by the developer. The shortlisted buyers will then be invited to book an EC unit based on their balloted queue positions in the balloting exercise.
 - (c) If the developer launches the EC development by way of a Walk-in-Selection, the buyer may submit an application and proceed to select an EC unit if the buyer and all persons listed in the application form meet the eligibility criteria to buy an EC unit as assessed by the developer. Core occupiers in existing HDB flat or DBSS flat

If the removal of their names from the existing HDB flat or DBSS flat results in the remaining owners being unable to retain the said flat, such core occupiers may buy or be included in an EC application only if another person can be included as an owner or occupier of the existing HDB flat or DBSS flat to form a family nucleus with the remaining owner(s), or if the remaining owner is also included in the EC application, the existing HDB flat or DBSS flat must be sold within six months from the date of taking possession of the EC unit.

6.4 Change of buyer or occupier

Any request for change or removal of buyer's or occupier's names listed in the application is subject to re-assessment. 7.2 Premium or resale levy payable

You and/or the occupier(s) who enabled the household to qualify for the EC purchase must pay any premium or resale levy due to HDB before you can take possession of the EC unit from the developer, if you and/or the occupier(s):

7.3 Failure to pay premium or resale levy

If you and/or the occupier(s) who enabled the household to qualify for the EC purchase fail to pay any premium or resale levy to HDB, you will not be eligible to buy an EC unit. The consequences are given in the table.

S/No.	Failure to pay premium or resale levy

- (b) The initial 5% booking fees paid will form the minimum cash payment when the buyers exercise the Option To Purchase. The remaining downpayment can be paid from CPF savings. The CPF Housing Grant, if this applies, forms part of the buyers' CPF savings and may be used to pay the balance downpayment. Legal fees and stamp duties may be paid using cash or CPF savings.
- (c) The use of CPF savings to buy the EC unit shall be governed by all the relevant rules, regulations, policies and terms and conditions that the CPF Board may impose from time to time in relation to buying properties under the CPF Housing Scheme. The CPF usage for the EC is subject to applicable limits, which will be determined based on the detailed information regarding the purchase. The CPF Housing Grant will be treated as part of the CPF savings of the buyers and will be included in the computation of the applicable limits on the total amount of CPF savings that can be used for the EC purchase.

For more information on the use of CPF savings for property purchase, please visit CPF Board's website at www.cpf.gov.sg.

EXECUTIVE CONDOMINIUM - FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(These Frequently Asked Questions and Answers are meant to share some common questions and answers for general information only. For more details, please contact the developer, Taurus Properties SG Pte. Ltd.)

SECTION ONE: GENERAL INFORMATION

Q1. What is Executive Condominium housing?

A1: The Executive Condominium Housing Scheme (ECHS) is the Government's housing scheme to cater to the aspirations of Singaporeans to live in private properties.

Executive Condominiums (ECs) are developed and sold by property developers. They are comparable in design and facilities to those in private condominiums but are sold at more competitive prices.

Similar to private condominiums, ECs are sold with strata titles. This allows buyers like you to collectively own the common property like car parks and recreational facilities. You will form a management corporation to manage and upkeep the estate that best meets the interests and requirements of the residents.

You must meet the eligibility conditions to buy an EC unit. You must remain eligible and physically occupy the EC unit for at least five years after the Temporary Occupation Permit is obtained for the EC development.

Q2. I understand that ECs are developed and sold by private property developers. What are the roles of the developers?

A2: ECs are governed by the Executive Condominium Housing Scheme Act 1996 ('ECHS Act'). Private property developer will develop, price and sell the EC units. The developer also works with you directly on all enquires, requests or appeals. Some examples are given below.

Items	Examples
All enquiries	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sale of EC units • Pricing and payment scheme for purchase of EC units • Your eligibility to buy an EC unit • Your eligibility for the CPF Housing Grant (if this applies) • Housing Loan • Design, construction, and compliance with statutory requirements

All appeals	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Purchase of an EC unit • Retention of an EC unit • Waiver of forfeiture due to early termination of the Option To Purchase or the Sale and Purchase Agreement

Q3. What types of facilities are provided in an EC development? What are the EC prices?

A3: The facilities available in an EC development are generally similar to those provided in private condominiums, such as a clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis court, etc. The exact facilities and EC prices will vary from project to project. The developer will inform the public during the launch of its project.

SECTION TWO: ELIGIBILITY TO BUY AN EC UNIT

Q4. I am interested to buy an EC unit in Copen Grand and would like to find out more, such as if I am eligible to buy. Who can I approach?

A4: You can approach the developer if you wish to buy an EC unit in Copen Grand.

Q5. I am going through divorce proceedings and the divorce has yet to be finalised. Can I and my fiancé or fiancée apply to buy an EC Unit from the developer?

A5: No. If you and your fiancé or fiancée wish to buy an EC unit, please approach the developer after the divorce is finalised. That is after you have obtained the Certificate of Making Decree Nisi Absolute / Certificate of Final Judgment / Certificate of Making Interim Judgement Final / Certificate of Divorce from the Syariah Court.

Q6. Can I buy an EC unit if I own a private property?

A6: If you, your spouse, or any family member to be listed in an EC application owns or has an interest in private property in Singapore or overseas, you are not eligible to buy an EC unit. If you have disposed of your private property, you may apply for an EC unit after 30 months from the date of disposal of the private property.

Q7. I am in arrears in paying mortgage instalments for the HDB housing loan for my current flat. Do I need to pay off my debts before I can apply to buy an EC unit?

A7: Yes. You must pay the amount owed to HDB (with interest if this applies) before you may apply for a subsidised flat, which includes a DBSS flat or EC unit to be bought from property developer. You can make the payment at your HDB Branch and show proof of payment to the developer when you book an EC unit.

SECTION THREE: APPLICATION PROCEDURES AND CANCELLATION

Q8. What documents do I give to the developer when I book an EC unit?

A8: You have to produce documents to the developer to check your eligibility when you book an EC unit. Please refer to the procedures and terms and conditions attached in the EC sales brochure. You may also wish to check with the developer to confirm the required documents.

Q9. I have applied for a flat from HDB but have not booked a flat yet. Can I apply to buy an EC unit?

A9: Yes. If you have not booked a flat with HDB, you can apply and book an EC unit with the developer. HDB will cancel your flat application after you have booked an EC unit.

Q10. I have booked an HDB flat and have signed the Agreement for Lease. Can I buy an EC unit?

A10: If you have booked a flat and decide to cancel the booking, you will not be eligible to apply for an EC unit within one year after the cancellation.

Q11. What is the forfeiture if I were to give up my EC unit after I have paid the booking fee and obtained the Option To Purchase but before I execute the Sale and Purchase Agreement?

A11: If you are eligible and you choose to give up your EC unit before you execute the Sale and Purchase Agreement, the developer will impose a forfeiture of 25% of the booking fee as provided in the Option To Purchase.

Q12. I have been granted an Option To Purchase for an EC unit in another project. Can I buy an EC unit in this EC project now?

A12: If you decide not to exercise the Option To Purchase for the other EC unit you had booked earlier, you must inform the other developer of your decision and cancel your booking, before you can buy an EC unit in this project. Part of your booking fees will be forfeited by the other developer in accordance with the earlier Option To Purchase.

Q13. I have signed the Sale and Purchase Agreement for an EC unit in another project. Can I buy an EC unit in this EC project now?

A13: If you have signed the Sale and Purchase Agreement for another EC unit, you must check with the other developer on whether you can still buy another EC unit. Please note that the developer can impose a forfeiture of 5% of the purchase price upon termination of the Sale and Purchase Agreement and may take other actions as set out in that Sale and Purchase Agreement.

Q14. My fiancé or fiancée and I have booked an EC unit under the Fiancé/Fiancée Scheme. What is the financial forfeiture if I were to give up my EC unit after I have signed the Sale and Purchase Agreement?

A14: Under the Fiancé/Fiancée Scheme, you must produce your marriage certificate for the developer's verification (for further details on the scheme, please refer to the EC terms and conditions). If at any point in time, there is a break-up in the fiancé and fiancée relationship, you will become ineligible to continue with your EC purchase. In this situation, the developer can terminate your Sale and Purchase Agreement and impose a forfeiture amounting to 5% of the purchase price.

If you have received a CPF Housing Grant for your purchase, you and your fiancé or fiancée will have to return the CPF Housing Grant together with accrued interest. If the full amount cannot be recovered at that juncture, the outstanding amount will be treated as a debt owed by you and your fiancé or fiancée to the Government. Both of you will also not be eligible to rent or buy or take over the ownership of an HDB flat or EC unit until you have paid up this debt in full (with interest).

For more details, please approach the developer to help you further.

Q15. What is the consequence if my purchase of the EC unit is terminated after I have executed the Sale and Purchase Agreement?

A15: If your Sale and Purchase Agreement with the developer is terminated in accordance with the Sale and Purchase Agreement (for example, because you have ceased to be eligible to continue with the purchase of the EC unit), the developer will impose a financial forfeiture amounting to 5% of the purchase price of the EC unit. Please also check with your solicitor on other expenses related to the termination.

It is therefore very important for you to ensure that you remain eligible to buy the EC unit before and after you sign the Sale and Purchase Agreement. You must remain eligible from application to the expiry of the 5-year minimum occupation period of the EC unit.

For more details, please approach the developer to help you further.

SECTION FOUR: FINANCING

Q16. How much do I have to pay when I book an EC unit with the developer? If I proceed to sign the Sale and Purchase Agreement, how much more do I need to pay?

A16: You must pay an option fee (equivalent to 5% of the purchase price) in cheque or Cashier's Order or by telegraphic transfer / Fast and Secure Transfers / MAS Electronic Payment System / General Interbank Recurring Order upon booking of an EC unit. You must also pay the balance 15% of the purchase price according to the timeframe as stated in your Option To Purchase. The CPF Housing Grant given to eligible buyers may be used for this balance downpayment.

The developer may offer a progress payment scheme or a deferred payment scheme in the sale of EC units. Please check with the developer for details about the payment schedule that applies for your EC purchase.

Other payments include legal fees payable to your solicitor and stamp fees and registration fees on the legal documents for the transaction. Please check with your bank or solicitor for more information on financing matters.

Q17. I noticed that there are developers who offer both Normal Payment Scheme (NPS) and Deferred Payment Scheme (DPS). Are there any differences between the two schemes?

A17: Yes. NPS refers to the payment schedule set out in the standard Sale and Purchase Agreement. DPS is a payment scheme where a developer allows buyers to pay in a manner other than the standard payment. If you have opted for DPS, this may affect the purchase price of your EC unit. Please check with the developer for more details.

Q18. Can I use CPF savings to finance the purchase of an EC unit?

A18: Yes. Only buyers can use their CPF savings to pay for their EC unit. The occupiers listed in the application are not allowed to do so.

The CPF usage for the EC is subject to applicable limits, which will be determined based on the detailed information regarding the purchase. The CPF Housing Grant will be treated as part of the buyers' CPF savings and will be included in the computation of the applicable limits on the total amount of CPF savings that can be used for the EC purchase.

For more information on the use of CPF savings for property purchase, please visit CPF Board's website at www.cpf.gov.sg/propertyusage.

Q19. How do I finance my EC purchase?

A19: HDB does not grant housing loans for EC purchases. Similar to private property buyers, EC buyers have to arrange for their own mortgage financing from financial institutions regulated by the Monetary Authority of Singapore.

Please check that you are able to take a home loan from a financial institution before you apply to buy an EC unit.

SECTION FIVE: CPF HOUSING GRANT

Q20. How do I apply for the CPF Housing Grant?

A20: You must complete and sign the application form for CPF Housing Grant and submit to the developer when you book an EC unit. The supporting documents (for example, income documents and marriage certificate) that are required can be found in the procedures and terms and conditions enclosed in the EC brochure, as well as the application form for CPF Housing Grant. You can get the application form for CPF Housing Grant from the developer.

If you did not bring any of the supporting documents, you have to submit the outstanding ones to the developer within one week from the date of booking. If the complete set of documents is not received within the one-week deadline, you will not be considered for the CPF Housing Grant.

If your housing grant application is successful and you have booked an EC unit, you must complete and submit the application to use your CPF savings (through your solicitor) to CPF Board for processing. This will enable you to use your CPF savings and/or the CPF Housing Grant towards the payment for your EC unit. However, if the developer has served the Notice to take Vacant Possession, you will not be eligible for the CPF Housing Grant.

Q21. How will the CPF Housing Grant be given?

A21: The CPF Housing Grant will be disbursed to eligible core applicant(s) and core occupier(s), who are Singapore Citizens or Singapore Permanent Residents, and tagged for housing subsidy enjoyment. The core family nucleus tagged for housing subsidy enjoyment is defined as the core EC buyers and core occupiers who are needed to qualify for the EC purchase under an existing eligibility scheme.

Q22. Can I use it as the downpayment for my EC unit?

A22: The first 5% of the purchase price of your EC unit must be paid by Cashier's Order or cheque or by telegraphic transfer / Fast and Secure Transfers / MAS Electronic Payment System / General Interbank Recurring Order. You can use the CPF Housing Grant to pay for the remaining downpayment (in other words, 15% of the purchase price) after you have signed the Sale and Purchase Agreement. Please note that the CPF Housing Grant, if disbursed to core occupier(s) in your EC application, will not be able to use the CPF Housing Grant and/or savings in his/her OA for EC purchase, servicing of the housing loan, and any purchase-related payments.

To ensure that the CPF Housing Grant is available for your use, please submit all the documents to the developer within one week after booking an EC unit. Please also complete and submit the application to use your CPF savings (through your solicitor) to CPF Board for processing immediately upon your booking of an EC unit.

Q23. How will the CPF Housing Grant be treated if I do not complete the purchase of the EC unit?

A23: You must return the CPF Housing Grant with accrued interest to the Government if you do not proceed with the purchase of the EC unit.

Please refer to the CPF Housing Grant Form application form for more details. If you need more information, please check with the developer.

Q24. Am I eligible for the CPF Housing Grant if I apply to buy an EC unit where the Temporary Occupation Permit for the EC unit has been obtained?

A24: Yes. You will be eligible for the CPF Housing Grant if you meet the conditions for the grant and the developer has not served the Notice of Vacant Possession on you.

Q25. When I sell my EC unit in the open market in future, do I need to refund the CPF Housing Grant to the Government?

A25: No. When you dispose of your EC unit, you must refund all the CPF savings, used with accrued interest, including the CPF Housing Grant which had been withdrawn for the purchase of the EC unit, to your CPF account. You may then use the CPF savings returned to your CPF account for the next property purchase.

Q26. Can I apply for the Enhanced CPF Housing Grant and the Proximity CPF Housing Grant to buy the EC unit?

A26: No. These grants do not apply to the purchase of an EC unit.

SECTION SIX: PREMIUM OR RESALE LEVY

Q27. I am a second-timer. Do I have to pay a premium or resale levy when I buy an EC unit?

A27: Second-timer applicants and occupiers in the core family nucleus who had previously enjoyed a housing subsidy are required to pay any premium and resale levy due to HDB before they can take possession of the EC unit from the developer.

Q28. I still own my first subsidised flat. How do I pay the resale levy when I buy an EC unit?

A28: You are given up to six months from the date of taking possession of the EC unit to sell your existing flat. The resale levy will be deducted from the cash proceeds upon completion of the resale transaction. Any shortfall will have to be made good in cash.

The resale levy you have to pay will depend on the type of subsidised flat you own. Please refer to Part 7 and Annex C of the terms and conditions for more details.

Q29. If I buy an EC unit with or without the CPF Housing Grant from the developer now, what is the resale levy payable if I sell the EC unit and buy an HDB flat in future?

A29: After you have waited out 30 months from the sale of the EC unit and if you are eligible to buy a second subsidised flat, you must pay a resale levy of $55,000. This levy has to be paid via Cashier's Order (in favour of "HDB") in one lump sum before you can collect the keys to the second subsidised flat.

Q30. Can I proceed with the purchase of an EC unit if I do not pay the premium or resale levy?

A30: No. You will not be able to proceed as payment of the 20% premium or resale levy is one of the eligibility conditions for the EC purchase.

SECTION SEVEN: OWNERSHIP ADMINISTRATION

Q31. Can I give up my EC unit after I have taken possession of it but within the five-year occupation period?

A31: Owners are not allowed to dispose of their EC unit before the expiry of the five-year minimum occupation period as it will be an infringement of the ECHS Act.

Q32. What will happen if an EC owner infringes the Executive Condominium Housing Scheme Act 1996?

A32: If an owner infringes the ECHS Act or its relevant regulations, his EC unit may be compulsorily acquired. The compensation payable to the owner will be in accordance with the Executive Condominium Housing Scheme (Compensation & Order of Priority) Regulations.

Q33. Can an owner rent out the bedrooms in his EC unit?

A33: EC owners may rent out bedrooms subject to all the terms and conditions stated in HDB InfoWEB.

While no prior approval is required from the HDB, the EC owner must register the renting out of bedrooms with HDB within seven days of doing so. They must also notify HDB when they renew or terminate the renting out of bedrooms, or when there are changes to the tenants' details.

Q34. Can an owner rent out the bedrooms in his dual-key EC unit?

A34: EC developers market and sell dual-key EC units as one entity under one strata-title to enable multi-generation families to live together and provide mutual care and support to each other. This is particularly important given Singapore's ageing population. At the same time, the dual-key EC unit has the advantage of allowing such families to enjoy the privacy of separate living spaces.

The multi-generation families must live in the dual-key EC units for five years from the Temporary Occupation Permit of the EC development. EC owners who wish to rent out bedrooms must comply with HDB's terms and conditions for renting out. You can read more about the terms and conditions at the HDB InfoWEB. You must register the renting out of bedrooms with HDB within seven days of doing so.

Q35. Can I buy or invest in private property in Singapore or overseas after I have bought an EC unit?

A35: No. You cannot buy or invest in private property in Singapore or overseas from the time of your EC application to the expiry of the five-year minimum occupation period (MOP). The MOP is computed from the Temporary Occupation Permit date of the EC development. You may buy a private property in Singapore or overseas only after the expiry of the five-year MOP.

Q36. When can I sell my EC unit in the open market?

A36: You may sell your EC unit in the open market to Singapore Citizens or Singapore Permanent Residents after the five-year minimum occupation period which starts from the Temporary Occupation Permit date of the EC development. However, you can sell it to any persons after 10 years from the Temporary Occupation Permit date.
